MANUAL AND HISTORICAL SKETCH OF THE
NEW YORK LIBRARY CLUB

NEW YORK

1902

PREFACE.

The List of libraries was in type in October, 1901, when the receipt of advance sheets from the Report of the United States Commissioner of Education for 1899-1900, giving statistics of "Public, society and school libraries," and of the "Annual report, 1900," on Public libraries, issued by the University of the State of New York, brought to light a number of libraries in New York City of which the Committee had no previous knowledge, although every available source of information had been examined. Some two hundred additional circulars of inquiry were sent out, and as a result more than one hundred libraries were added. In several instances repeated calls for information were not responded to; these libraries are indicated in the List by an asterisk (*) preceding the name.

The Committee is indebted to its chairman for compiling the List of libraries, to Mr. Nelson for the "Historical sketch" and the other historical matter in the "Manual," and to Mr. Bostwick for the List of "Members" of the Club.

Thanks are due and are cordially tendered to all who have aided the Committee in the compilation of this record of library progress in New York City.

GEORGE WATSON COLE,
CHARLES ALEXANDER NELSON,
ARTHUR ELMORE BOSTWICK.

New York City Public School Libraries.

For the names and location of the various schools consult the directories, for 1901, of the Boroughs of Manhattan and the Bronx, Brooklyn, Queens, and Richmond.

HISTORY.—The first public school library was founded in Public School No. 1 in 1810 by The Public School Society. In 1818 each school was provided. The several schools subsequently established received libraries as a necessary part of their apparatus. In 1835 measures were adopted to procure libraries for the use of trustees and teachers. By the provisions of Chapter 237 of the Laws of 1838, the city received annually $10,000, its proportion from the United States Deposit Fund, "to be applied either to the support of School Libraries or to the payment of teachers." The money was used for salaries. In 1860 the legislature prohibited the appropriation of this money for any other purpose than the purchase of books for school libraries. Yearly accessions soon gave the schools substantial equipment. About 1880 each school had bequeathed to it $250 worth of books, known as the Holbrook Library. Shortly thereafter the American Museum of Natural History presented each school with a case of natural history specimens and a copy, in four quarto volumes, of Cassell's "Popular Natural History." By the provisions of Chapter 566 of the Laws of 1894, increased state aid was furnished for the purchase of school libraries. The first appropriation served to replace worn reference books and to procure later publications. A subsequent appropriation was used almost entirely for the purchase of books for the scholars.

REGULATIONS.—Open every school-day from 8.30 A. M. to 3.30 P. M.; the general library for reference, the class libraries for circulation and home reading. Lists of suggested reading are posted in the classrooms. Privileges restricted to those directly connected with the schools.

RESOURCES.—600,000 volumes, comprising (1) reference books for use in the schools; (2) books especially designed as aids to teachers; (3) books relating to branches of study pursued in the schools; (4) supplementary reading books, including (a) books that cultivate a taste for good reading in the pupils, and (b) those that give information on the subjects prescribed in the Course of Study. Number of schools, 516. Income, $50,000 annually, half from the City and half from the State.

Detailed information respecting some of these libraries may be found in this list.

NEW YORK LIBRARIES.

The figures refer to the serial numbers of the libraries and not to the pages of the list.

When the subject is found, turn to the library indicated and see upon what conditions, if any, the collection is available.

It should be borne in mind that the larger libraries may have more volumes upon a given subject unreported than a smaller library which reports it.

In addition to books upon given subjects most libraries also have many pamphlets upon the same subject.

This Index does not claim to give a complete list of all the special subjects to be found in the libraries of New York, but only some of the most important ones.

CONSTITUTION.

I. NAME.

This organization shall be called the New York Library Club.

II.* OBJECT.

Its object shall be to promote acquaintance and fraternal relations among librarians and those interested in library work ; and by consultation and coöperation to increase the usefulness, and advance the interests, of the libraries of New York and its vicinity.

III. MEMBERS.

Any person interested in library work and unanimously recommended for membership by the Executive Committee, may be elected at any meeting of this Club. Any library or any educational, social, industrial or similar institution or organization having a library or directly interested in library work and unanimously recommended by the Executive Committee, may be granted membership and representation at any meeting of this Club. All proposals for membership of either individuals or institutions, shall be referred to the Executive Committee and the Secretary of this Club shall keep a record of the person or persons making such proposals.

CONSTITUTION

IV. OFFICERS.

The officers of the Club shall be a President, two Vice-Presidents, a Secretary, and a Treasurer, who shall be elected by ballot annually at the regular meeting in May, and shall serve for one year from that time or until their successors are chosen.

The President shall preside at all meetings.

In the absence of the President, a Vice-President shall perform the duties of the office.

The Secretary shall keep a faithful record of all business transacted; shall give due notice of any election, appointment, meeting, or other business requiring the personal attention of any member; and shall have charge of the books, papers, and correspondence.

The Treasurer shall keep a full and accurate record of all receipts and disbursements and shall present a statement of accounts at each regular meeting of the Club, and an annual report at the annual meeting on the second Thursday in May. The Treasurer's account shall be closed on the 30th of April, which shall be the end of the fiscal year. He shall pay all bills against the Club after they have been certified by the chairman of the Executive Committee.

V. EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

An Executive Committee of five shall be appointed by the President for the current year, to which the President, Secretary, and Treasurer shall be added as ex-officio members.

The first-named member shall be the chairman, and three members shall constitute a quorum.

It shall be the duty of the Committee to prepare questions for discussion by the Club; to consider and mature plans for the general work of the same; and to approve all bills before payment by the Treasurer.

The Executive Committee shall be empowered to spend money for the ordinary running expenses of the Club.

VI. MEETINGS.

There shall be regular meetings of the Club on the second Thursday of each October, November, January, March, and May, at such time and place as the Executive Committee may appoint.

The President shall call a special meeting of the Club on the written request of five members ; but notice shall be sent to each member not less than a week before such meeting.

VII. DUES.

There shall be annual dues of one dollar, payable at or before the November meeting, and a fee of one dollar at joining, which shall be in lieu of the annual dues for the current year.

The fiscal year of the Club shall begin May 1st.

No debt or obligation shall be contracted by any committee, officer or member of the Club on its behalf.

VIII. AMENDMENTS.

All amendments to the Constitution shall be referred to the Executive Committee, which shall report thereon, and the same may be adopted by a three-fourths vote at a regular meeting.

Notice to members before action on such amendments shall state that "Action will be taken on Amendments to the Constitution."

HISTORICAL SKETCH.

By CHARLES ALEXANDER NELSON, A.M.

THE NEW YORK LIBRARY CLUB was organized June 18, 1885, in the office of the Librarian of Columbia College, on 49th Street, by the persons named below, who met in response to the following call:

"DEAR SIR,—Last year a meeting was proposed to discuss the desirability and practicability of an informal club of New York librarians, to hold six or eight meetings per year. There are many matters in which knowledge of each other's work and plans would result in coöperation greatly to our mutual advantage. It is certainly wise to have one meeting to see whether more are desirable.

"Will you therefore meet us here Thursday, June 18th at 4 P.M., and invite any others in your library or outside who may be interested? Please try to be present or send word whether we may count you as interested.

"This meeting is especially needed now to consider what may be done to interest any foreign librarians who come thro' New York to the meeting of the A. L. A. at Lake George in Sept."

The charter members were Henry M. Baird, D.D., Miss Ellen M. Coe, Max Cohen, Melvil Dewey, Mrs. Melvil Dewey, John MacMullen, Charles Alex. Nelson, Wm. Thaddeus Peoples, Reuben Brooks Poole, and Jacob Schwartz, of New York, and Wm. Augustus White and George Hannah, of Brooklyn. Seven others sent regrets for absence with expression of a wish to join. Wm. T. Peoples was chosen chairman and Melvil Dewey secretary of the meeting. It was decided to hold meetings of the Club in November, January, March, and May; a constitution was adopted and Messrs. Dewey, Peoples, Bowker, Schwartz, and Hannah were chosen as Executive Committee.

The Executive Committee met on Friday evening, Sept. 11th, at the Sagamore, Lake George, and elected Richard Rogers Bowker, president, Miss Ellen M. Coe and Wm. A. White, vice-presidents, C. Alex. Nelson, secretary, and Jacob Schwartz, treasurer.

The first meeting of the Club was held Nov. 12th, 1885, at 3 P.M., at Columbia College Library. Forty persons were present. The topics considered were "Local co-operation of New York libraries in: a. A Union list of periodicals in these libraries; b. Inter-library loans and courtesies; c. Book thieves; d. Disposition of duplicates."

Messrs. Dewey, Nelson, and Schwartz were appointed a committee to prepare and submit a Union list of periodicals in the libraries of New York, to contain all indexed in Poole and all current periodicals and newspapers. Eight libraries voted to coöperate in the expense.

R. B. Poole, Miss Coe, and George Hannah were appointed a committee to report what steps could be taken to protect our libraries from book thieves and to present a plan for action. This Committee subsequently recommended that a secret list of the names of suspected persons be prepared for the use of librarians.

At the second meeting of the Club, held Jan. 14, 1886, thirty-one new members were elected. The topic discussed was "Free public libraries in New York City," and Reservoir Park, 5th Avenue and 42d Street, was proposed as a suitable site for a central library building. Messrs. Nelson, Schwartz, and Berry were appointed a committee to collect statistics and ascertain the specialties of the various libraries of New York and vicinity.

On the evening of Feb. 24th a special public meeting was held in the law lecture room at Columbia College. Eighty persons were present. Hon. Adolph L. Sanger spoke in behalf of the movement to incorporate the New York Library. A resolution was passed endorsing the Bill providing for its incorporation and appropriating $750,000 for the erection of a building. This Bill was killed in committee.

At the fourth meeting, held March 11, 1886, the Committee on book thieves reported a Bill amending the law relating to the mutilation of books. The Secretary read the Hendricks Act to encourage the growth of free circulating libraries. Under this Act a library circulating 75,000 volumes annually was to receive $5000, and the same amount for each additional 100,000 volumes, the total amount to any one library not to exceed $40,000.

At the meeting on May 13th the first volume of the new Astor Library Catalogue was exhibited, and a resolution was passed congratulating the Board of Trustees on its publication. A letter from Dr. H. A. Homes, the State librarian, was read in reference to his drafting a general library law for the State. On June 5th the Executive Committee authorized the Secretary to print copies of the Constitution and a full list of the members.

The proposed work of the A. L. A. Publishing Section was discussed at the November meeting held at Columbia College Library, and this led to the selection of "Highest legibility of type" as one topic for the next session, and "The libraries of New York and their relation to the public schools" was selected as another.

HISTORICAL SKETCH

The Secretary was authorized to secure press clippings on library matters, which furnished a very valuable stock of information for subsequent meetings.

At the seventh meeting, Jan. 13, 1887, resolutions favoring a reduction of postage on library books were adopted. It was voted to make the March meeting an open one and the Executive Committee was requested to secure one or more essays on the "Relation of libraries to the public schools." At a special meeting held Feb. 10th the "Best size for a printed page" was discussed. On March 10th the public meeting was held at Columbia College, and Miss Marguerite Merington read a paper on "The relation of public libraries to public schools from a teacher's point of view," the first paper read to the Club. In the absence of Mr. Max Cohen, Mr. Dewey continued the discussion of the topic. On motion of Miss Merington, the Executive Committee was instructed to appoint a joint committee of librarians and teachers to formulate a line of coöperative work and lay the same before the Board of Education.

At the tenth meeting, on May 12th, the topic discussed was "What privileges do the libraries of New York extend to the teachers and scholars of the public schools?" A paper by Miss Emily S. Hannaway on "The Children's Library in New York" was read by Mr. Bowker. At the meeting held Nov. 10th, Mr. John Davies Mullins, librarian of the Birmingham (Eng.) Free Libraries, was present, addressed the Club, and was elected the first honorary member. The Committee on "Union list of periodicals" reported that the List was published and delivered to subscribers, the edition of one thousand copies costing $255.83. The death of Mr. John F. Sargent, librarian at Paterson, N. J., was announced, the first break in the membership of the Club from this cause. "The New York libraries and the subsidy question" was discussed; the Hendricks Library law was criticised and a committee was appointed to suggest amendments.

At the twelfth meeting, Jan. 12, 1888, the Committee on size of book page recommended $17\frac{1}{2}$ by 25 cm. as the standard size for catalog and bulletin work, and postal size, $7\frac{1}{2}$ by $12\frac{1}{2}$ cm. for dodgers and small circulars. The recommendations were adopted. The topic discussed was "Library seminaries." At the March meeting amendments to the Library law were proposed, and, after discussion, were referred to Judge Howland, who subsequently reported unfavorably thereon. Book thieves were reported on and discussed. The topic "What catalogs shall we print?" called forth a quite free expression of opinions. The Secretary announced the preparation of a paper on "Library legislation," which would appear in Appleton's Annual for 1887.

The topics discussed at the May meeting, held at Columbia College, were "How best to stimulate the formation of public libraries in New York State," and "Should mercantile libraries be sustained independently or merged into free public libraries?" The Secretary reported that only seventeen responses had been received from public libraries in answer to forty inquiry blanks sent out by the Committee on library statistics. At the fifteenth meeting, Nov. 8th, Prof. H. Carrington Bolton, of Washington, D. C., gave an interesting talk on "Facilities afforded readers in European libraries." The treatment of pamphlets was also discussed.

C. Alex. Nelson and A. W. Tyler tendered their resignations as members on account of their going South to fill positions as librarians, the one at New Orleans and the other at Wilmington, Del. The resignations were accepted to take effect on their crossing Mason and Dixon's line. Paul Leicester Ford was elected secretary to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of C. Alex. Nelson.

"Catalogs of portraits and pictures" and the "Disposition of pamphlets in libraries" were the subjects considered at the first meeting in 1889. On March 14th, at the seventeenth meeting, Mr. W. E. Foster, of Providence, was present and took part in the discussion of the question "How far should reading be controlled in libraries?" No records appear of any meeting in May, and probably none was held, as, at the meeting of November 14th, held at the Brooklyn Library, the Treasurer made his annual report and the Executive Committee for 1889-90 was elected. "Periodicals in reading-rooms and libraries" was the topic considered. The Club examined the Brooklyn Library, visited the Long Island Historical Society, and were entertained by Mr. Gordon L. Ford in his fine private library.

January 9, 1890, the Club held its nineteenth session at Newark, N. J., with forty members in attendance. Mr. Paul Leicester Ford read a paper on "The differentiation or specialization of New York libraries," which was followed by a valuable discussion, and a collation.

The March meeting was held at the Astor Library. Miss Ellen M. Coe read a paper on "Should American literature be specially favored in our libraries?" An interesting discussion followed, and the Club then examined the Library.

At the twenty-first meeting, held May 8, 1890, at the Bruce Memorial Library, the subject of "Bookbinding"

was taken up and considered. A committee of five was appointed to report on A list of the public and semi-public libraries of the city, and the probable cost of its publication. An outline of a circular asking information for the compilation of the Manual was published in the Library Journal, 15 : 212.

The Executive Committee, Oct. 16, 1890, revised the Constitution and met several times before the regular meeting which was held at Pratt Institute, Nov. 13, 1890. One hundred members and guests were present. The proposed Manual received considerable attention. "Reports of library news and items of interest from libraries represented" gave a pleasing variety and made an enjoyable meeting. The Institute was inspected with great satisfaction, and the Club was entertained by Mr. Bowker at his home.

The twenty-third meeting was held at the Union Theological Seminary. The new Constitution was reported by the Executive Committee, and a total membership of one hundred and ten announced. Mr. Gillett gave a sketch of the history and administration of the Seminary Library. The members inspected the Seminary and its library.

The twenty-fourth, a special meeting, was held Feb. 22, 1891, at the Hall of the Long Island Historical Society, Brooklyn. The Club was welcomed by the Rev. Dr. Storrs, president of the Society. The new Constitution was adopted. Dr. E. C. Richardson, of Princeton, read a paper on "The science of books." Mr. Lindsay Swift, of the Massachusetts Library Club, and T. L. Montgomery, of Philadelphia, reported respectively on the chilliness of the Boston atmosphere and the abnormal warmth of that of Philadelphia. Connecticut and New Jersey were also heard from. An assessment of fifty cents on each member was voted. After the meeting the members inspected the library and museum.

March 12th the Club met at the Railroad Men's Branch of the Y. M. C. A., and listened to an "Account of the libraries for railway employees," given by G. A. Warburton, secretary of the Railroad Men's Branch of the Y. M. C. A. Miss M. I. Crandall read a paper on "The duties of a library to its staff," which drew out a warm discussion.

The annual meeting was held May 14th, at Columbia College Library, where the Club was welcomed by President Seth Low in a brief and cordial address. About eighty members were in attendance. Miss Mary C. Mosman read a paper on "Methods of the Reference Department of the Pratt Institute Library"; William B. Child, of Columbia College Library, one on "The reference work of a college library," and the Secretary read a paper on "Methods of the Brooklyn Library," prepared by Willis A. Bardwell, its librarian. These papers brought out an interesting line of inquiry and remark on reference work in libraries. At the close of the meeting a collation was supplied by the Columbia College Library staff, which added a very pleasant social feature to the meeting, and promoted "acquaintance and fraternal relations" among the members present. Ex-Secretary C. Alex. Nelson was present as a guest.

The twenty-seventh meeting was held November 12, 1891, at Jersey City. The Club was welcomed by Dr. L. J. Gordon, president of the Trustees of the Jersey City Public Library, who made some humorous criticisms on the Dewey classification. Miss Mary W. Plummer read a paper describing the more notable features of the libraries visited by the members of the American Library Association on their trip to San Francisco. A collation was served and a very pleasant social hour was enjoyed after the meeting.

January 14, 1892, the Club met at the Mercantile Library. The resignation of Miss Mary I. Crandall, as secretary, was received in consequence of her having accepted a position in the Newberry Library, Chicago. Mr. George Watson Cole was requested to act as secretary for the remainder of the year. Mr. S. H. Scudder exhibited some photographic views taken during the California trip of the A. L. A. in October, 1891. A resolution was passed congratulating the Chicago Library Club on its organization. After a full discussion of the topics "Admission to shelves" and the "Use of costly and rare books," a collation was served. In February the Club again went to Brooklyn, meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Library. The Executive Committee reported the adoption of the rule that "If members of the Club fail to pay their dues after two years, notices having been regularly sent to them by the Treasurer, their names shall be dropped from the list of membership." The subjects considered were "Catalogs" and "The best mode of making known to the public the resources of a library." Mr. Stetson opened the discussion with a brief paper, and many members took part. Mr. Peoples announced an exhibition of illustrated books at the Mercantile Library.

The thirtieth meeting of the Club was held March 10, 1892, at the Young Women's Christian Association, 7 East 15th Street. Attention was called to the Bill before Congress providing for the printing and distribution of public documents. The proposed law was quite fully discussed and its provisions met with general approval. Mr. Geo. H. Baker made the opening remarks on the topic "Library development in New York City," followed by Miss Coe, Mr. Peoples, Dr. Leipziger, and others. H. J. Carr, treasurer of the A. L. A., was present, and took part in the discussions.

HISTORICAL SKETCH

The seventh annual meeting was held in May at Columbia College Library. The Library School was represented by Miss M. S. Cutler and the members of the Junior Class. Miss Ellen M. Coe read a paper on "The relation of libraries to public schools." A. L. Peck, of Gloversville, N. Y., being called upon, related his experience with the scholars and teachers of his city, with whom he had plenty of time to labor in person. Dr. Leipziger and President Hill advocated making renewed efforts to interest the school teachers in the libraries. Dr. Henry M. Leipziger, Miss Ellen M. Coe, and Miss Mary W. Plummer were appointed a committee to secure a joint meeting of teachers and librarians to discuss this question. W. T. Peoples opened the discussion of the second topic, "The equalization of the postage rates on books of all classes." After some debate a strong resolution was passed endorsing the House Bill providing for a change in the postal laws. The officers for the ensuing year were elected. After adjourning, a collation was served by the ladies of the Library staff.

The thirty-second meeting was held Nov. 10th at the Union for Christian Work, Brooklyn. Mr. Robert Foster gave an account of the Union, which had its origin in a small reading-room twenty-six years earlier. Mr. Bardwell introduced the topic of the day, "The best method of getting books into the hands of the people through branches and delivery stations." George Watson Colc followed with a paper on "Delivery stations or branch libraries." Mr. Samuel H. Ranck, of the Enoch Pratt Library, Baltimore, was present, and took part in the discussion. The day was stormy and the attendance was small. Ten questions were found in the question-box, the answers to which taxed the wit and wisdom of those present.

January 12, 1894, the Club met at Columbia College Library; about twenty members were present. The subject of "Delivery stations or branches" was again taken up, and Mr. Peoples gave his views. Mr. H. J. Carr, of Scranton, was present, and joined in the discussion, as did also A. W. Tyler. The second topic, "Printed bulletins and monthly lists," drew forth valuable statements of experience. The ghost of the Handbook again arose but was quietly laid.

The thirty-fourth meeting was held Feb. 9th, at the Y. M. C. A. rooms, 23d Street and Fourth Avenue. Mr. R. B. Poole read a valuable paper on "The Manuscript age," and numerous examples of mss. and facsimiles were passed for inspection. Mr. Tyler added remarks based on a twenty years' study of the subject. A letter from Dr. H. M. Leipziger, explaining the delay in arranging for a meeting of teachers and librarians, was read.

The March meeting was held on the 9th, at the Astor Library. Owing to a severe storm, only about twenty-five members were present. Mr. Tyler read a paper on "Books and bookmaking before the age of printing." It was illustrated by numerous specimens of mss. kindly brought together by Mr. Frederic Saunders, the librarian.

HISTORICAL SKETCH

The custom of holding the annual meeting at Columbia College Library was kept up, and the Club met there on May 11th. Mr. Cole spoke on the first topic, "The Library School at Albany." In the absence of F. P. Hill, the President (Silas H. Berry) reported on "The Library exhibit at Chicago," giving a condensed account of it. The third subject, "Rebinding for general circulation," was discussed by Messrs. Baker, Poole, Cole, Tyler, Berry, and Miss Hull; their remarks were printed as a symposium in the Lib. Jour., 18: 186-7. Dr. Leipziger reported that Miss Coe and himself had met ten school principals on April 12th, at a two hours' meeting, in which all were much interested. Samples of the Rudolph Index with photographs were shown. George Watson Cole was elected president and Harriet E. Prescott secretary for the ensuing year.

At the thirty-seventh meeting, held Nov. 9th, at the Y. M. C. A. rooms, Dr. W. C. Prime gave a talk on "Early illustration of books by wood-cuts." Dr. Prime held the close attention of the members for over an hour, talking as freely and familiarly as though in his own library, and presenting much valuable information. By special invitation, after adjournment, the members went directly to the Grolier Club and inspected the exhibition of fine bindings brought from the World's Fair.

The session held Jan. 11, 1894, at the Mercantile Library, was mainly given up to listening to the plans for "Printing catalog cards for libraries," proposed by the Library Bureau and the Rudolph Indexer Co. Mr. Spencer E. Carr represented the latter and Mr. F. R. Fletcher the former. A full statement of what each proposed to do was made, and many questions were asked in reference to the form, style, and price of the proposed cards. A committee was appointed to wait upon Mr. T. L. De Vinne and request him to deliver an address at the next meeting on "Early printed books."

The thirty-ninth meeting was held Feb. 8th at Columbia University Library. The topic discussed was "Library statistics," and, from the remarks made, there appeared to be little uniformity, not only in the methods of keeping records of the use of books in libraries, but also of reporting the number of volumes and pamphlets they contained.

The meeting, on March 8th was held at the Railroad Men's Branch of the Y. M. C. A. Topic, "Reports of recent work and development and present condition of the several libraries represented in the Club." Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Carr, of Scranton, were present, and Mr. Carr reported on new library work carried out in Philadelphia. Mr. Geo. H. Baker spoke of the rearrangement of the library of Columbia in the new building, withdrawing largely free access to the shelves; he announced a donation by President Low of the books illustrative of the German universities exhibited at the World's Fair, the printing of the Catalog of the Avery Architectural Library, and an anonymous gift of $20,000 to the Library. Resolutions were adopted on the death of Dr. William Frederick Poole, of Chicago, and several members gave personal recollections of Dr. Poole's high character and ability as a librarian. C. Alex. Nelson read a short poem* commemorating the completion of The "A. L. A." Library Catalog.

May 10th the Club met at Columbia University Library. A paper on "Special international bibliographies" was read by Mr. Axsel G. S. Josephson. Discussion on the topic, "What is needed in American bibliography," was opened by Mr. Bowker, who outlined the purpose and scope of the proposed American Catalogue of books from 1800 to 1876 not included in the 1876 volume of the "American Catalogue." The annual election of officers was held, and C. Alex. Nelson was elected president.

By special invitation from the Bryson Library, the Club held its forty-second meeting at the Teachers' College, Nov. 8th, and, though the day was stormy, about sixty members were present. President Walter Hervey, of the College, made a brief speech of welcome, and introduced Miss Grace Dodge, of the Board of Trustees, who spoke of the need of books in school work, of the way in which Mrs. Bryson had provided for the College, and of the need of coöperation between librarians and the teachers who seem to know nothing about books, nor how to bring them to the child. The discussion of the subject "How teachers should coöperate with librarians," was opened with the reading of a paper by Mr. Geo. W. Cole. President Nelson called attention to the fact that at five previous meetings the same subject had been before the Club for consideration. Mr. Poole, Mr. Baker, Miss Merington, and others, took part in the discussion, which emphasized the necessity of acquainting teachers with the willingness of librarians to aid them, and of interesting them in the selection of books for their children. A vote of thanks was passed to the officers and teachers of the College for their courtesy and for the social entertainment which followed the meeting.

The New York [State] Library Association and the Club united in a joint meeting on Jan. 11-12, 1895, at the

HISTORICAL SKETCH

Y. M. C. A. rooms on 23d Street. Mr. R. B. Poole, president of the State Association, delivered an address on "The personality of the librarian," at 3 P. M., on the 11th. This was followed by a paper on "The library work of the University of the State of New York," by Rev. W. R. Eastman, superintendent of this work. Mr. A. L. Peck, of Gloversville, read a suggestive paper on "The adaptation of libraries to local needs," which reflected something of the admirable work done in Gloversville in the solution of the problem there. "The value of a classified arrangement of books" was considered in papers by Miss Jenny L. Christman, of Albany, Miss E. M. Coe and Miss Hitchler, of New York. Considerable informal discussion of the several papers helped to fill out a satisfactory program for the session.

"In the evening occurred one of the pleasantest gatherings of library people ever held in New York, the Library Club inviting the State Association and other guests to dinner at Clarke's parlors, on 23d Street. The menu was a triumph of President Nelson's skill in combining with the 'text' a 'gloss' of apt quotations, culled from writers ancient and modern." The leading after-dinner speakers were Dr. Edward Eggleston and Hamilton W. Mabie, and brief speeches were made by C. A. Cutter, W. I. Fletcher, R. R. Bowker, W. R. Eastman, and Geo. H. Baker. Miss Helen Moore gave a touching account of the University Settlement Library and its work. "The dinner was in every way a great success, valued perhaps as much for the delightful social intercourse afforded as for the more formal speaking."

The final session of the joint meeting was held Saturday morning, and was mainly devoted to the subject "Reading for the young," in answers to the three questions: 1. "How can we induce parents to oversee their children's reading," by Edward H. Boyer, a school principal of New York. 2. "How may we make the guiding of her pupil's reading a part of the teacher's work?" responded to by Miss Merington. J. C. Sickley, A. L. Peck, Miss Hewins, and others, contributed to the discussion which followed the paper. Miss Ellen S. Coe responded to question 3. "What can be done to help a boy to like good books after he has fallen into the dime-novel habit?" speaking hopefully on the whole, though admitting the difficulties in the way. Miss Mary S. Cutler discussed the "Principles of the selection of books" under three heads: Who shall select? What shall be chosen? How shall it be done? An interesting discussion ensued.

The forty-fourth meeting was held Feb. 15th at the Methodist Library. The subject discussed was "Help of libraries in training for citizenship," introduced by R. B. Poole. Rev. Dr. Thomas gave a full explanation of his method of shelving and preserving newspapers and periodicals in wrappers of manila rope paper. A pleasant hour was spent in inspecting the immense building of the Methodist Book Concern.

March 14th the Club met at the rooms of the Y. M. C. A. Geo. W. Cole read a paper on "Libraries of the twentieth century." The regular topic, "The proposed combination of the Astor, Lenox, and Tilden Foundations," elicited a full and interesting discussion, Messrs. Weeks (of Newark), Poole, Wing, Leipziger, Baker, Nelson, and Judge Peck, taking part.

The annual meeting was held at Columbia University Library May 9th. The death of Reuben Brooks Poole was announced; an appropriate minute was ordered spread upon the records and personal tributes were paid by the President, Dr. Leipziger, and George H. Baker. Resolutions were passed congratulating Columbia College on its magnificent gift from President Low for a library building. After electing officers for the ensuing year, the regular subject of the meeting was taken up, "The proposed bibliography of American literary periodicals." A letter from Professor H. Carrington Bolton was read and remarks were made by several members and by Mr. C. C. Soule, of Boston. Messrs. G. H. Baker and E. C. Richardson were added to the original committee, which was instructed to formulate a plan for a "General catalog of all American literary periodicals."

A committee of six with full powers was appointed to arrange for the celebration of the tenth anniversary of the founding of the Club, and $30.00 were appropriated towards the expenses.

At the forty-seventh meeting, held at the Mercantile Library, November 14th, the Committee on decennial celebration reported that it had been decided to celebrate at the annual dinner in January. It was voted to invite the State Association to join in the meeting and to be the guests of the Club at the dinner. C. Alex. Nelson read a paper, "Echoes from the Denver Conference," and Miss Winsor reported on the "Experiences of four A. L. A. members on their trip to Salt Lake City." Reports on the second topic, "New work undertaken by the libraries represented during the past year," occupied the rest of the session. Some sixty members were in attendance.

The joint meeting of the State Association and the Club was held at the rooms of the Y. M. C. A., January 10, 1896.

Reference was made to the deaths of Ex-President R. B. Poole and of second Vice-President, Miss Louise S. Cutler. Miss Helen Moore read a paper on "Settlement libraries," Miss Mary S. Cutler one on "Home and club libraries," and Miss E. A. Bays one on "Parish libraries." A full and valuable discussion of these papers followed. Miss Hannah P. James presented a paper on "Librarians at the Atlanta Exposition." The morning session was closed by Miss Mary W. Plummer reading an account of the "New library building of the Pratt Institute," plans of which were exhibited. In the afternoon Mr. Henry S. Nourse, of the Mass. State Library Commission, made an address on "The State and the public library." Miss M. E. Hazeltine read a paper on "Maintaining the public library by endowment." J. M. Brandege, W. R. Eastman, and Melvil Dewey took part in the discussion of the paper. Mrs. Nellie De G. Doubleday, of Bay Ridge, gave a full statement on "How to start a library movement." The question of the collation of books as received led up to an amusing and spirited discussion.

The tenth anniversary was celebrated by a dinner at Clarke's in the evening, attended by one hundred and twenty-five members and guests. Among the latter were Mrs. Ruth McEnery Stuart, the officers of the newly organized Brooklyn Public Library Association, Rossiter Johnson, Prof. F. W. Hooper, and Charles A. Cutter. The Rubinstein Ladies' Quartet, of Brooklyn, and Miss Gertrude J. Nelson, contributed the musical portion of the entertainment. The after-dinner speeches were excellent, and letters of regret from Seth Low, Andrew Carnegie, W. D. Howells, E. C. Stedman, Judge Henry E. Howland, and others, were read.

HISTORICAL SKETCH

The February meeting was held at the Grolier Club, the whole Club-house being open for inspection. The program was planned to harmonize with the attractions of the place. Miss Louise Both-Hendriksen, a member of the London Ex-Libris Society, read a paper on "Book-plates," or "Ex-libris," as she preferred to call them. Mr. Theodore L. De Vinne addressed the Club on the subject of "Fine printing." Mr. J. O. Wright criticised the A. L. A. standard book sizes, and was answered by Messrs. Bowker and Geo. H. Baker.

A furious storm on March 19th reduced the number in attendance at the fiftieth meeting to about thirty. Mr. Bostwick called attention to the fact that six years had passed since the Club had met at the Bruce Memorial Library. The report of the Committee on the annual dinner was presented, with the recommendation that the next dinner be in celebration of the twenty-first birthday of the Library Journal. Mr. R. R. Bowker opened the program with a paper on "Libraries and library problems in Greater New York." This was followed by a discussion as to the best site for the New York Public Library. The second topic, "Bookbinding," was introduced by Mr. Nelson, who read extracts from an essay on that subject presented before the Grolier Club by Mr. William Matthews. This was followed by a talk on temporary binding in manila rope paper, in which Messrs. Thomas and Berry took part, showing how cheaply and effectively this material could be used. Mr. Berry also showed specimens of the writing of the call number directly upon the book in black or white ink, a single coat of French varnish preventing the ink from smearing.

The annual meeting was held at the hall of the Young Women's Christian Association, May 14th. The subject for the meeting was the "History of the organization and work of the Club from its beginning;" a paper giving a summary of all the meetings for the first ten years, the place where held, and the program of subjects discussed, was read by C. Alex. Nelson, one of the charter members. Officers were elected for the ensuing year.

The fifty-second meeting of the Club was held Nov. 12th, at the Pratt Institute Library, Brooklyn, about one hundred being present in spite of stormy weather. Dr. J. S. Billings extended an invitation to hold some future meeting at the Astor Library. A communication from Mr. Tillinghast was considered in which the Club was urged to undertake the preparation of the monthly lists of select fiction, published by the Massachusetts Club last year. Misses Hitchler, Haines, and Winsor were appointed a committee to confer with the Massachusetts Club and the State Association in reference to the matter. A committee was also appointed to confer with the State Association in reference to the annual dinner. An amendment to the Constitution was proposed providing for the omission of the February meeting. A reception committee of seven was appointed to serve for one year. The regular program was then opened. C. Alex. Nelson gave a report on "The A. L. A. Conference at Cleveland," introducing extracts from Mr. Dana's opening address and from Mr. Larned's indictment of the newspaper press. Miss Haines read a graphic and entertaining account of "The Post-Conference excursion." The third topic, "What should librarians read?" was postponed for want of time.

The annual joint meeting of the Club and State Library

Association was held Jan. 14, 1897, in the Art Building, in Brooklyn, by invitation of the Brooklyn Public Library Association. An all-day program was provided. In the absence of Mr. Larned, president of the State Association, C. Alex. Nelson, vice-president, called the morning session to order and welcomed the members to Brooklyn. W. R. Eastman read a paper on "Library progress in the State of New York." Mr. Richard Jones, the Regent's literature inspector, delivered an address on "Literature clubs." A symposium was then held on "What should librarians read?" conducted by Geo. H. Baker, W. A. Bardwell, A. E. Bostwick, and Wilberforce Eames. Miss Cutler, Mr. Richardson, Mr. Dewey, and Mr. Cutter also took part in the discussion. Mr. Dewey then spoke on "The relations that should subsist between library associations and the National Educational Association." The afternoon session was devoted to the discussion and criticism of the "Best books of 1896." The classified list of 489 of the leading books of 1896, prepared at the New York State Library, was taken as the basis. Mr. Peoples presented his selection of Reference books. E. C. Richardson discussed the books on Philosophy, Ethics, and Religion. Natural Science and Useful Arts were reviewed by T. L. Montgomery. C. A. Cutter talked of the books on Fine Arts, laying down the principles to be observed in buying art books for public libraries. The thirty-five titles in Social Science were reviewed and analyzed by Prof. Franklin H. Giddings, of Columbia University, in a masterful way, and a number of valuable additions were suggested. Fiction was presented by Miss Helen E. Haines, Literature by Miss Mary L. Davis, and Travel by Miss Mary W. Plummer, of Pratt Institute. Miss M. S.

HISTORICAL SKETCH

Cutler discussed Biography. History, which had been assigned to Mr. J. N. Larned, was omitted, and Miss Hewins gave one of her pleasant talks on the children's books of the year.

The annual dinner at the Clarendon was not up to the usual high social and enjoyable standard, being subordinated to and cut short by the evening mass-meeting in the Academy of Music, arranged by the Brooklyn Public Library Association, at which R. Ross Appleton, Ex-Mayor Boody, Andrew Carnegie, Dr. Richard S. Storrs, Father E. W. McCarthy, Frederick B. Pratt, and Melvil Dewey, were the speakers. At this meeting the names of the Trustees of the Brooklyn Public Library were first announced.

The March meeting was held in the Astor Library on the evening of the 11th. The Committee on the Massachusetts fiction lists reported that the Massachusetts Library Club had decided to continue the lists, but asked for financial coöperation, which the Committee recommended. Dr. G. E. Wire and Miss Josephine A. Rathbone were appointed to represent the Club at the meeting of the N. E. A., at Milwaukee, in July. The subject of the evening was "Some recent bibliographical projects." Dr. John S. Billings spoke of the plan for indexing scientific publications decided on at the International Conference held in London last July. Mr. Thorvald Solberg discussed the project of a universal catalog of all printed books.

A special meeting was held at Columbia University, March 23rd, to protest against the omission from the free list in the Dingley Tariff Bill of books and apparatus for the use of libraries and other educational institutions. Dr.

HISTORICAL SKETCH

Billings, chairman of the committee appointed to take necessary action, reported resolutions reciting the previous tariff legislation on the subject and urging the restoration of the privileges heretofore accorded, which were adopted, and the Secretary was instructed to send copies to the secretaries of other library associations throughout the country, to the senators and congressmen from New York, and to the members of the Club. The committee, consisting of Dr. Billings and Messrs. Nelson and Bostwick, was continued with power.

The fifty-sixth meeting, and twelfth annual, was held at the Railroad Men's Branch of the Y. M. C. A., April 22nd. About two hundred persons were present, including the Vice-director and students of the New York State Library School. The Club voted an appropriation of twenty-five dollars for the W. F. Poole Memorial Fund. The first paper on the topic for the day, "The organization and management of library staffs," was presented by Mr. Wilberforce Eames, giving an account of the organization of the staff of the New York Public Library in the Astor and Lenox buildings. A paper by Frank P. Hill, read by Miss Winsor, gave "The practical side of staff organization, the duties and responsibilities"; Miss Hitchler discussed "The personal relations between the librarian and staff," and Miss Davis, of Pratt Institute, set forth "A theory of library administration." The officers for the ensuing year were elected.

A meeting was held at the Teachers College, Oct. 14th. C. Alex. Nelson gave a brief account of the second "Philadelphia Conference of the A. L. A." Miss Mary W. Plummer read a paper on "Children's libraries." R. R. Bowker gave an informal but reminiscent and particularly interesting talk on the "Second International Conference of Librarians at London," and the post-conference trip. He specially noted the absence of English women and the presence of American women at the Conference. Five o'clock tea was served to those in attendance.

The November meeting was held on the 11th at the Jackson Square Branch of the New York Free Circulating Library. Dr. J. S. Billings opened an interesting and lively discussion on "The disinfection of books." Following this he exhibited the sketch plans of "The proposed Building for the New York Public Library," and explained all the features which have been carefully worked out with a view of making it the best equipped library building of its kind in the country.

The annual meeting of the Club and the State Association was held at the Y. M. C. A., 318 West 57th Street, Feb. 17, 1898. Mr. A. L. Peck, President of the State Association, made the opening address, and then called on W. R. Eastman for an account of the "Free lending libraries of New York City." Mr. Frank P. Hill gave an exhibition and explanation of the plans of "The new building for the Newark Public Library." Mr. A. E. Bostwick took up the next subject, the "Development of reference work in circulating libraries." Miss M. E. Hazeltine discussed "Methods of reference work for children." The topic proved so interesting that time for its consideration was extended, and H. M. Elmendorf, Miss Pratt, and Mrs. Elmendorf contributed to the discussion. In the absence of W. E. Foster, his paper on "Methods of reference work with artisans" was read by title.

Mr. Bostwick, President of the Club, presided at the afternoon session when the subject, "Some recent experiments on access to shelves in free circulating libraries," was reported upon by W. K. Stetson, of New Haven, Miss A. E. Brown, and Miss Cragin, of the New York Free Circulating Library. Mr. Elmendorf read a paper on the experiment made in Buffalo of placing a selected library of 6700 volumes on open shelves, with free access to all. Additional books to the number of 4500 had been added. Mr. T. W. Idle read an account of "Mudie's Select Library," of London with which he was connected for many years.

Mr. W. R. Eastman presented for consideration the "Select list of the fifty books of 1897" which received the highest vote throughout the State. Two classes of the year's books were presented in detail. Fiction, by Miss Helen E. Haines, and Juveniles, by Miss Caroline M. Hewins. Miss M. E. Hazeltine described "The Children's Library League," of the Prendergast Library, of Jamestown. A committee on legislation was appointed, consisting of Dr. J. S. Billings, W. C. Morey (of Rochester), J. E. Brandegees (of Utica), A. L. Peck, and W. R. Eastman.

The annual dinner was served at the Sturtevant House, preceded by a social reception from 7 till 8 o'clock. After-dinner speeches were made by President Bostwick, George Haven Putnam, Rossiter Johnson, A. Van Name, W. I. Fletcher, and Mr. Tillinghast, of Cambridge, Mass. The musical feature of the evening was contributed by Miss Blenner, Miss Cox, and the Misses Holt.

The sixtieth meeting was held at the Pratt Institute Library, Brooklyn, on the afternoon of March 10th. An account of the "Music and the literature of music in the

New York Public Library," was read by Mr. Victor H. Paltsits, of that institution. T. W. Idle reported on the collection of works on music at Columbia. Mr. Willis A. Bardwell read a paper on "Music at the Brooklyn Library." Verbal reports were also made on the collections of music at the Los Angeles Public Library, at the Y. M. C. A., Brooklyn, at the Pratt Institute Library, and at the New Haven Public Library. Miss Mildred A. Collar presented a paper on "Book-hunting and bibliophiles."

The Committee on legislation reported that various amendments had been proposed to the Education Bill pending at Albany, and that careful attention had been given to the library provisions of the measure.

The May meeting was held on the 12th in the new Columbia University Library. Mr. Geo. H. Baker described the new building and dwelt upon its special features, including the arrangements of the seminar-rooms. Mr. Bostwick gave an account of the proposed new building for the Bloomingdale Branch of the New York Free Circulating Library, showing the plans for the same. Mr. W. Eames gave an account of the "Early printed books in the New York Public Library." C. Alex. Nelson read a brief paper on "The university library." This being the annual meeting the Treasurer's report was read and audited. The whole board of officers was reelected for the ensuing year.

The sixty-second meeting of the Club was held Oct. 13th, at the rooms of the Y. M. C. A. on West 57th Street. Dr. J. S. Billings gave an account of "The recent Conference of the L. A. U. K., at Southport, Eng.," at which he was the American representative. The question of open access to shelves proved the only disturbing element in an otherwise peaceful conference. A paper by Miss Mary W. Plummer on "Modern Spanish novelists" was read by Miss Josephine A. Rathbone. Reports from the various libraries on innovations and progress during the past year followed. After some discussion a committee of three was appointed to confer with the New York Library Association and with any library club in the State to devise and propose a plan whereby the library interests of the State may be federated.

On the evening of Nov. 10th, the Club met at the Lenox Library building, Fifth Avenue and 70th Street. The Committee on federation reported progress and asked to be continued. The papers read were arranged to illustrate the special characteristics of the Lenox Library. Mr. Eames presented an "Historical account of the Lenox Library," giving a sketch of the life of James Lenox, the founder. Mr. V. H. Paltsits described "Its book treasures and art rarities." Mr. Axel E. Sylvan explained "Its method of cataloging Incunabula, or 15th century books," and Mr. H. M. Lydenberg followed with an account of "Its historical mss. and prints." "Its map department" was described by Mr. Thomas Letts, and Mr. Charles D. Gillis read a paper on "Its department of American genealogy and local history." The last paper, on "Its musical collections," was read by Miss Mary L. Avery.

Jan. 12, 1899, the Club met in the assembly room of the Boys' High School building, 60 West 13th Street. The special subject for discussion was the "Relations between free libraries and public schools," and a number of principals, teachers, and others interested in school work were present. The subject was first presented by Dr. H. M. Leipziger. Miss Julia Richman, principal of Grammar School No. 77, spoke on "The reading of school girls," as observed by her, and made some valuable suggestions on the home reading of school children. Miss Mary E. Merington read a practical paper criticising the "Indiscriminate selection of books for public libraries," and urging some method of regulating the issue of books to young people. Miss Emma Cragin gave an account of the "Travelling library department of the N. Y. Free Circulating Library." Miss Moore spoke of the children's use of the University Settlement Library. Mr. Bostwick, Dr. Leipziger, School Commissioner O'Brien, Miss Foote, and Mr. McDowell, of Newark, took part in the discussion. It was voted to hold the annual dinner on Feb. 16th, in connection with the meeting of the State Library Association at Poughkeepsie.

The February meeting was held on the 16th at the Young Women's Christian Association, 7 East 15th Street. On account of the weather, very few out-of-town members of the State Association were present. The Dinner Committee was authorized to spend not more than fifty dollars, and it was voted to hold the next meeting March 17th in conjunction with the Pennsylvania Library Club and the N. J. Library Association, at Atlantic City. The annual topic "Reports of library progress from the various libraries represented in the Club" was opened by Mr. Eastman with a general report on library progress in the State. On behalf of the New York Public Library Mr. Eames reported for the Lenox Library, and Mr. Frank Weitenkampf for the Astor. Miss Pauline Leipziger gave statistics for the Aguilar Library and its new branch. Miss Wallace, of the Cathedral Library, reported a new branch opened in 69th Street. Miss Husted, of the

Y. W. C. A. Library spoke in favor of the open-shelf system as used in that library since its opening. Mr. Bursch reported that funds had been supplied for cataloging the circulating department of the Y. M. C. A. Library. Miss Gibson reported that the St. Agnes Library had been moved to 85th Street and Amsterdam Avenue, and its circulation had increased. Mr. Bostwick stated that the opening of new branches had raised the circulation of the N. Y. Free Circulating Library to about one and a half million volumes a year, and the open-shelf system had literally been forced upon the library by the public. Miss Winser reported that the corner-stone of the new Newark Library building was laid Jan. 26th, and that a number of Polish and Lithuanian books had been added. Mr. Richardson stated that the building at Princeton had been completed and many gifts received. Miss Plummer described changes and improvements at the Pratt Institute, especially in the children's room.

Mr. Peck, of Gloversville, said that he paid less attention to large circulation than to the number of readers, the manner of reading, and the matter read. Other reports of library progress were made by Mrs. F. N. Doubleday and W. F. Stevens, and a written report was read from Miss A. R. Van Hovenberg.

The meeting was followed by a reception and dinner at the Hotel St. Denis. John Jay Chapman was the speaker of the evening and made a strong plea for recognition of individuality and genius in literature.

In accordance with the vote of the Club the March meeting was merged in the tri-state joint meeting with the Pennsylvania and New Jersey State Library Associations held at Atlantic City March 17-18, 1899. The Club was represented in the proceedings of the meeting by Miss Helen E. Haines, who read a short paper entitled, "New lamps for old," drawing attention to some of the older novels; by R. R. Bowker, in an address on "The Library," and its development since the first A. L. A. meeting in 1876; and by Melvil Dewey, who spoke upon the work of the modern librarian in raising educational and artistic standards.

The sixty-seventh and annual meeting was held at the University Settlement Building, Rivington and Delancey Streets, on May 25th. A resolution was passed making membership in the Club include membership in the State Association and vice versa. The regular program was opened with a paper by F. W. Halsey, of the New York Times, on "Librarians and literary editors—their responsibilities in a deluge." This was followed by short talks on "Methods for making known to the public the existence and work of a library." Miss M. E. Mills, Miss Leipziger, and Miss A. C. Moore were among the speakers. Misses Haines, Kelso, and Hitchler gave some amusing accounts of the social side of the Atlanta meeting of the A. L. A. Officers were elected for the next year.

The Club met October 12th in the parlors of the Y. M. C. A. on 23d Street. President Billings referred to the difficulty of finding subjects for discussion and called on members to suggest new topics. The Executive Committee recommended that the Club undertake the preparation of a library handbook for New York City. C. Alex. Nelson read a paper on "Incunabula in New York City," stating that there were probably nearly 2000 "cradle books" in the various libraries, public and private, the greatest number being found at the Union Theological Seminary, the New York Public Library, and at Columbia University. A special union card catalog had been begun at Columbia, which included 857 titles. Frank Weitenkampf gave a specially interesting account of "The Ford Collection," recently presented to the New York Public Library. Mr. Bostwick's topic was "Brooklyn libraries," but he confined his remarks to the Brooklyn Public Library and its plans for the future. It was proposed, he said, to cover the Borough of Brooklyn with a network of small circulating libraries, each the centre of a circle having a radius of three quarters of a mile, the circles of adjacent libraries touching at their circumference.

Miss M. W. Plummer described the "Photograph Collection of Pratt Institute Free Library," how the prints were mounted, catalogd, and circulated.

The November meeting was held on the 8th, at the Mercantile Library, with a large attendance. W. T. Peoples read a paper on the "History of the Mercantile Library," showing that the Library had been an important factor in the educational life of the city. Lecture courses were introduced by it in 1827 and continued till 1875. Although still a subscription library several efforts had been made to make it a free institution. F. B. Bigelow read a paper on the "Old newspapers in the Society Library." Mr. Eames and Mr. Paltsits followed with remarks on the old newspapers in the New York Public Library.

A discussion of the topic, "Hours of library service considered from the standpoint of the employee," followed, in which Mr. Wing, Miss Cragin, Miss Winsor, Dr. Canfield, Miss Prescott, Miss Husted, Miss Rathbone, Miss Hitchler, W. R. Eastman, and Geo. W. Cole took part.

HISTORICAL SKETCH

Dr. Billings summed up the question with the statement that seven hours per day seemed to be proper, with not less than one hour at meal time; he also advocated a yearly vacation of one month. After adjournment a collation was served by the courtesy of Mr. Peoples.

On Jan. 11, 1900, the Club met at the Astor Library Building, at 8.15 P.M. The report of the Executive Committee recommending that no action making for affiliation with the State Library Association be taken at this time was adopted. The topic for discussion was "State library laws." J. N. Wing spoke on the laws of Massachusetts and New York, comparing the provisions of each. R. E. Helbig discussed the laws of New Hampshire and Wisconsin. Miss A. R. Hasse compared the laws of California, Illinois, and Iowa, stating that in 1872 Illinois passed the first full and specific library law. Miss D. S. Pinneo described the library laws of Connecticut, their advantages and defects. W. C. Kimball referred to the movement for a State library commission in New Jersey developed by the State Library Association, and Miss L. E. Stearns spoke of the work of the Wisconsin Commission.

The second topic, "Cheaper postage for library books," was postponed until the next meeting.

A meeting of the Club was held Feb. 8th, at Columbia University, where Dr. Canfield made an address of welcome. The first two papers on the program, "The best methods of work with adults in free libraries," by Mrs. Agnes Hills, and "The difficulties of systematic training of school children in the use of the library and of reference books," by Miss Agnes Wallace, were omitted owing to the absence of the authors. A paper by J. C. Sickley, of Poughkeepsie, was read by J. N. Wing, describing the writer's efforts to interest school children in the use of reference books and books bearing upon their studies.

An animated discussion on the relation of the school to the library followed. Mr. Wing stated that travelling libraries were supplied to the schools, the books being used as supplementary readers. Mr. Bostwick remarked that nine tenths of the teachers looked askance at librarians. The question was finally left open for future action.

Miss Harriet Husted read an interesting paper on "Open shelves in the Y. W. C. A. of New York." Miss Plummer sent some statistics regarding the open-shelf experiment at Pratt Institute Free Library. The question of "Reduced postage for library books" was discussed by A. E. Bostwick and R. R. Bowker, and a paper against the proposed reduction, by C. Alex. Nelson, was read by J. T. Gerould.

The Club united with the State Library Association at its mid-year meeting on March 8th. The sessions were held at the hall of the Y. W. C. A. on East 15th Street. Dr. John S. Billings made a brief address of welcome, regretting that his health would prevent his fulfilling his duties as President of the Club. Dr. Canfield introduced C. H. Gould, of the McGill University, Montreal, who extended an earnest invitation to all to attend the meeting of the A. L. A. in that city. George Watson Cole then opened the regular program with a paper on "Library development in New York State, 1800-1900." H. L. Elmendorf, of Buffalo, read a paper on "The relation of the public library to the public school," followed by W. R. Eastman and Edwin W. Gaillard on the same topic. "The books of 1899" were introduced by Miss M. M. Monachesi, who reviewed the classes of Biography,

HISTORICAL SKETCH

History, and Poetry. Miss Hewins discussed her favorite subject, the "Children's books," and "Fiction" was considered by Miss Eleanor Woodruff, of Pratt Institute.

F. B. Bigelow, vice-president of the Club, presided at the afternoon session. Robert Rutter presented a paper on "The development of bookbinding in New York City," illustrated by binding implements and a book in the process of binding. George Haven Putnam gave an address on "The evolution of a book," showing complete knowledge of the subject. Arthur W. Tyler gave a brief talk, "Gleanings from twenty-five years of library experience." The closing topic, "The St. Louis plan for meeting the demand for popular fiction," was opened by C. Alex. Nelson, who read the account of the duplicate collection of popular fiction issued on the payment of a small fee as given by F. M. Crunden in The Library. Miss Plummer sent a statement of the system as adopted at Pratt Institute, and W. A. Borden described its working at the Young Men's Institute of New Haven, Ct.

In the evening the Club celebrated its fifteenth anniversary with a dinner at the rooms of the Aldine Association, Fifth Avenue and 18th Street. In the absence of Dr. Billings, Dr. J. H. Canfield presided as toast-master. Among the speakers were R. G. Thwaites, president of the A. L. A., Herbert Putnam, W. C. Lane, F. W. Halsey, Dr. Morris Jastrow, Dr. E. C. Richardson, Miss M. E. Hazeltine, Miss Hewins, and Madame Magnússon, (wife of Eiríkr Magnússon, deputy librarian of Cambridge University, Eng.), "whose reluctant little speech was one of the successes of the evening." "Taken as a whole, the joint meeting was probably the most notable in the history of the bodies represented."

HISTORICAL SKETCH

The fifteenth annual and seventy-third meeting of the Club was held at the Aguilar Free Library, May 10, 1900, at 3 P.M., Dr. J. S. Billings presiding. After the annual election of officers the regular program was opened with a paper on "Early American imprints," by W. J. James.* Miss Elizabeth L. Foote presented a paper on "Apprentices in libraries," followed by Miss Theresa Hitchler on the same subject. The program closed with a paper entitled "Volumes and circulation, a study in percentages," by Arthur E. Bostwick.

The October meeting was held on the 11th at the Y. M. C. A. building on 23d Street. The subject for discussion was "The relation of the libraries to the Educational Department of the City," and a large number of persons interested in educational matters was present. J. N. Wing gave a full account of the work done for the schools by the New York Free Circulating Library, stating that now nearly a hundred travelling libraries were sent to the schools and many club classes. Mr. Gaillard, of the Webster Library, explained the very practical methods he had adopted to reach teachers and pupils of the schools in its vicinity. Rev. Father McMahon, of the Cathedral Library, emphasized the guiding power and influence of the teacher and urged that the library be not exaggerated but that more attention be given to the schools. Dr. Leipziger urged the need of training teachers to use the libraries and of extending the work of coöperation. Mr. Burlingham, of the School Board, pleaded that the child be allowed to browse among the books, familiarity with them often developing a love for good reading. He explained the system of school libraries in use by the School Board, the tendency being to class libraries. The great need was the personal contact of the librarian and the teacher. Mr. Eastman closed the subject with a hope that the liberty of the child would always be recognized.

A vote was passed instructing the Executive Committee to invite to a conference representatives of the New York High School Teachers' Association, and of any other teachers' association or organization existing in the city in connection with the public schools.

The seventy-fifth meeting of the Club, and the last meeting of the century, was held November 8th, at the Y. M. C. A. building on 23d Street. George W. Cole, chairman of the Committee on printing the new Handbook of the Club, gave an outline of the plan adopted by the Committee in regard to the data to be given in the Handbook. Section three of the Constitution was amended so as to grant membership in the Club to all institutions having libraries or interested in library work. Miss Mary W. Plummer gave a talk on "Some impressions of the International Congress of Librarians at Paris." Dr. James H. Canfield reported from the Special Committee on coöperation between free libraries and public schools certain recommendations, of which the following were adopted: That of the bulletins issued by the various libraries, a reasonable number should be sent to the principal of each school, for the use of the teachers in that school; that the Club devote one of its meetings each year, preferably the first, to a discussion of this question of the coöperation of the libraries and the schools; that the Club request the various teachers' associations of this city, which discuss educational questions, to devote one meeting a year to a discussion of the possible coöperation of the schools and libraries, and to invite the librarians of the city to be present at these meetings.

The present "Historical Sketch" finds a fitting close with the end of the century, during the last fifteen years of which the Club has pursued its career of uninterrupted success. The published records of its Proceedings have been good seed, which have fallen into good ground and have produced an abundant harvest. Its work has supplemented and emphasized that of its only predecessor, the great parent of all library clubs, the American Library Association. The latter, by its general meetings, held almost annually since 1876, has blazed its way across the continent from The Thousand Islands to the Golden Gate, from Sault Ste. Marie to the delta of the Mississippi, and from Mt. Washington to Pike's Peak and Lookout Mountain, and in its track have sprung up no less than thirty State and general library associations, and twenty-one State library commissions, all organized and established since 1890. Twelve sister library clubs have likewise followed in the footsteps of their illustrious predecessor, whose pioneer work seems to have been begun but yesterday.

The American library spirit crossed the Atlantic in 1877, and from the United Kingdom spread to the Continent, to India and to Australasia; westward too it has taken its way and "put a girdle round about the earth," for Japan has a "Western Library Association."

With such a past, notable as it has been, the New York Library Club can not rest content; it must take cognizance of the great opportunities which the immediate future gives promise of, and prepare to meet the great responsibilities which devolve upon it. It must remain in the vanguard of all library progress; it must stand for only the best in all departments of library work; it must live up to its unwritten motto, "the highest our only standard."
